MY APPLICATION

Use the following questions this week to reflect on what it would mean to align yourself with the truths taught in Scripture. Each question is meant for both personal reflection and as a catalyst for discussion with your family, friends, or small group.

1. Have the current cultural tensions caused you to be more cautious about saying what you think? Without getting political, please share an example. How does fear of open conversation interfere with building trust and common ground?
2. As you read Micah 6:1-7, what is the question raised by God (v.1-5), and how does the people's response miss the point (v.6-7)? What are some ways we might be missing God's point today?
3. God's plan to change the world is to show the world a new humanity, seen in the lives of people who are following Jesus. Name some people you admire who are making an impact by who they are and what they do.
4. Have you taken the challenge to pray Micah 6:8 back to God every day this week? What are you hearing or sensing from God? Don't forget to email Pastor Tim and let him know (timhawks@hcbc.com).
